MARSTON COAT OF ARMS

OF THE YORKSHIRE CO. FAMILY.

PRELUDE : — In the manuscript of David Jeffries was found a drawing of the arms and crest, and below it, in his hand writing, was this inscription : “Marston of Hemmedhemstead, in the County of Hertford, Anno 1639” ; also the Blazon of the arms ; “Azure, a chevron embattled, or, between three lion’s heads, erased, crowned, or. (Mantled) : Crest ; a lion’s head, erased, per chevron azure. and or, crowned, and langued, gules.”

The above engraving was found with Admiral John Marston, of Philadelphia ; also with Mr. Sanford K. Marston, of Onarga, Ill., having been brought from England a few years ago.

Arms described : A blue shield, with a chevron of gold, embrasured as battlements, and situated between three golden, crowned lion’s heads, broken off. Crest : a lion’s head, same as the others, placed above the escutcheon, open mouth, and protruding red tongue. Mantled ; embellished with scroll work, foliage and flowers on both sides of the escutcheon.

THE YORKSHIRE ESCUTCHEON

ANALYZED AND EXPLAINED.

This Escutcheon was one of the most honorable, most magnificent and costly in the whole domain of English Heraldry. Every one of its charges are characteristic of Royalty, and wrought of gold. The lion is an emblem of Sovereignty, and only those who are in some manner connected with the Royal family are permitted to bear it for a charge on their shields; hence this family must have married with Royal blood at some early date. The crowned lion's head broken off signified that a Royal crowned head had fallen, — a royal line was broken by force of arms, referring to the overthrow and death of King Harold, at the battle of Hastings, Oct. 14, 1066, by William the Conqueror, and his allies, of whom was a Marston, titled, and commanding an army corps. The chevron embattled also suggests war and battles. The blue shield represents the British Kingdom, and the yellow golden charges point to the Prince of Orange, who had seized the throne. The mantle is of the most beautiful and elaborate scroll-work, surmounted by roses. Doubtless this part was added since the war of the "Roses," when Henry VII of Lancaster, married Elizabeth of York, daughter of Edward IV, in 1485, and thus united the two Houses. We presume, on the sinister side, is the Rose gules, for Lancaster; on the dexter is Rose argent, for York.

NOTE. The right and left sides of a shield are the reverse of that of the beholder. In heraldry the rose has no stalk.

York is the most ancient of British cities, and long before the Roman invasion, was its chief town. It was the seat of the Roman government during their rule in Britain. There Constantine Chlovus died, and his son, Constantine the Great, is supposed to have been born. It did not surrender to William I, till 1070, after much bloodshed. Near by it was fought the last great battle of the "Roses"; as also Cromwell's last great battle, which decided the fate of Charles I.

PREFACE.

DEAR FRIENDS:—

Perhaps you are desirous to know what motive induced me to compile this genealogy; therefore, as custom and etiquette require me to write a few lines of preface to introduce the subject, I will lay before you the circumstances that led me to begin this work. Till I was past fifty years of age, I knew comparatively nothing relative to my father's kindred, he having strayed off "down east" from N. H., and was lost, practically, to all his relatives, as the facilities for communication at that early day were very limited. At length I was seized with an irrepresible desire to learn something definite about my paternal kindred and ancestors, and feeling ashamed of my ignorance in this matter, I then resolved to institute a diligent search for them forthwith, and you may see the results thereof in this genealogy. My researches revealed to me the fact that many of our name, like myself, had been born far away from their ancestral home, and sat under the same dark cloud that so long overshadowed me, and it was for their sake, and our name in general, that I so persistently continued this tedious search for seven long years, so that I might throw some light on their future pathway, and light a beacon for coming generations which shall be their genealogical polar star for the next hundred years. This work is wholly a labor of love. For means and time expended in collecting material and writing this work I have no other compensation than your good wishes, and kindly remembrance of me.

Yours Fraternally,

NATHAN W. MARSTON.

INTRODUCTION.

As an introduction to this work, I will first give the etymology and origin of our name. Marston is the English of Marsius (Lat.); Marson (Germ.), and signifies warrior, being derived from Mars, the mythological god of war. In ancient times the term was applied only to a body of people, as “Campus Martius,” and the “Marsii,” a fierce, warlike tribe, which dwelt in Italy, and were allies of the Romans when they first subdued the petty tribes which surrounded them. They were such brave and fierce fighters that they were called the “Marsii” (warriors). It was a proverbial saying among these tribes, that the Romans achieved no victory over the Marsii, nor any victory without the Marsii.

This title was first applied to a personal character about the ninth century, in Germany, and in this way: the King was being hard pressed on all sides by the petty sovereigns contiguous to his kingdom, but was finally relieved by the skill and valor of the Prince, or Duke, who had command of his army, for which good service the King conferred on him this martial title, Marsius. At this date people had but one name, and were distinguished one from another by their titles or vocations, which titles and vocations after a while were adopted as their sur-names. So in process of time this title became the sur-name of that family, one of whom and of noble descent, the commander of an army corps, came over to England with William the Conqueror, in 1066; and for his military services in the capture of England he was granted large estates in Yorkshire county, wherein is situated "Marston's Moor," made famous by the memorable battle between the Royalists, commanded by Prince Rupert; and the Parliament troops under Lord Fairfax and Cromwell, July 2, 1644.

We learn from an English lady that the estates at Marston's Moor are yet in the possession of the descendants of this family, who are said to be very aristocratic.

After many years this family became quite numerous and settled in other counties, where they married into the families of the nobility and founded new branches of the Marston family. There was the Yorkshire, the Worcestershire, the Staffordshire, and the Leicestershire families, with different, though similar coat-of-arms. Yorkshire county bordering on Scotland, some of the family went into that country and married with the Scotch, hence arose the idea that our ancestors were of Scotch descent. Possibly the mother, or grandmother of William, senior, was a Scotch lassie.

In the 17th century the Marstons held county conventions, or visitations, as they called them, and entered their coat-of-arms and pedigrees for record; first in Leicestershire, in 1619; in Shropshire, in 1673; in Worcestershire, in 1684. The Worcestershire family is now extinct. They were of "Hall-Peen," Yardley, but at the death of Job Marston, in 1701, aged sixty-five years, unmarried, his estates passed to a distant female relative. The said Job was the son of Walter and Susannah Marston. She was a daughter and co-heiress of Job Durham, of Hampton, Warwick county. [Exit Worcester.]

My opportunities to consult English records are very limited. The earliest record that I am able to obtain in England, is a mention of Edward de Marston, and of John de Marston, of Yorkshire, in the 13th century.

(N. B. The name was then in the "tadpole" state.)

In 1477, when Sir William Frost was Mayor of York, Thomas Hassle and William Marston were his two sheriffs.

John Marston (1575 to 1634), in the reign of King James 1st, was a famous dramatic writer, and was imprisoned by the King for satirizing the Scotch people in one of his plays. (See Br. Enc'p.)

William Marston, of Slauston, in Leicestershire, by his second marriage had two sons; 1, William, who died in the 36th year of the reign of Queen Elizabeth; 2, Thomas of whom nothing is known.

William Marston,² son of William of S., had two sons; 1, William,³ born about 1792-3, and 2, John, born about 1794-5.

William³ (grandson of William), had three sons living in 1619, all small children. (Rec. Brit. Museum, Lond. Vis. held 1619.)

Whether the above William³ was the same person as William, Sr., of Hampton, our first cis-Atlantic ancestor who left England in 1634 with three sons and a daughter, I am unable to determine.

The original characteristic traits of the Hampton branch were firmness and faithfulness, piety and perseverance; but these virtues have become somewhat adulterated by intermarriages during two hundred and fifty years; yet they are the ruling principle with the majority of the family to this day. Persons of intemperate, profane or immoral habits are rare cases in this family, while men of high reputation and great professional attainments are found in many of the States. Let every one of our name strive to maintain our high standard of morality.

SECTION FIRST.

ROBERT MARSTON,
WILLIAM MARSTON, SR.,
AND
THOMAS MARSTON,
OF
HAMPTON, N. H.

ROBERT MARSTON, was born in England, not far from 1583, and came to Salem, Mass., probably with William, Sr. (who is supposed to be his brother), in 1634, and went with the said William, Sr. to Newbury about 1637, thence in October, 1638, to Winnicomet with William, Sr., his three sons and twelve others from Newbury, and thirty-eight from Salem and that vicinity, who made the first organized settlement there; and this community was afterwards incorporated as the town of Hampton, in the old county of Norfolk (now obsolete), and when said county was divided to settle the boundary dispute, New Hampshire took all that part east of the Merrimack river, which included the town of Hampton. Robert Marston died in 1643, leaving a small estate, consisting of a house and lot of seven acres lying on Robert Page; also fifteen acres of upland in the North-Field (now North Hampton), and thirty acres of upland granted Mr. Rushwood by the town; also five acres of salt-marsh on the other side of the landing place, and ten acres of salt-marsh in the Little Ox-common, which was granted Mr. Rushwood by the town, with two shares in the Ox-common and three shares in the Cow-common. His age was about sixty years.

It is evident from the action of the Probate Court that he left children in England, else the Marstons in America were not his near relatives. See order of the Court.

ORDER OF THE COURT, 23D DAY, 10TH MO., 1643.

The Court at Salem doeth appoint John Marston and Thomas Marston as administrators unto Robert Marston, of his estate until the true heirs unto the estate, who are in England, shall either come or send to take order therein. And that ye administrators shall in the mean-tyme bind themselves, each for the other to this Court for the well managing, as also the improvement of the said estate; and that there shall be joined with them, for the better directing of them, as also improving of the said estate, John Saunders and Thomas Macey, both of Salisbury. The administrators are bound in ye bond of an hundred pounds, for the performing of the promises. And that ye bring in at the next Court at Ipswich, upon oath, a true inventory of the estate of the said Robert Marston, deceased.

WILLIAM MARSTON, Sr., patriarch of the Hampton, N. H., branch, was born in England (tradition says in Yorkshire county), about A. D. 1592, and came to Salem, Mass., in 1634 with his family (and probably two brothers, Robert and John), and resided there about three years, receiving a grant of land in 1636 from the General Court of Massachusetts, but soon after went to Newbury for a short time; thence, in October, 1638, to Winnecumet, where he with fifty-five others settled on lands granted them by the General Court of Massachusetts, and they called the place Hampton (Norfolk county), after the English home of a part of the settlers, and by this name it was incorporated. It is quite probable that his first wife lived till about 1660. Then about 1662, when about seventy years old, he married second, Sabrina Page, aged eighteen or twenty years, a daughter of Robert and Lucia Page, of Ormesby (Yarmouth), Norfolk county, England, by whom he had one daughter, Tryphena. He was a kind hearted, benevolent, and godly man, and was a member of the Quaker or Friends, church, and suffered persecutions for his religious tenets. He often harbored and aided his distressed and persecuted brethren, for which Christian deeds he was robbed by exorbitant fines by the zealous and bigoted courts. In Felt's Annals of New England I find this record:

“Oct. 14, 1657, William Marston petitioned the court at Hampton, that the fine of £15 may be remitted that had been imposed on him for keeping a paper and two books which inculcated Quaker doctrines.”

He died in Hampton, June 30, 1672, aged about eighty years. See his will. He had five children by the records.

Thomas,	born in	1617, in England.
William,	“ “	1622, in England.
John,	“ “	1626, in England.
Prudence,	“ about	1630, m. Moses Coxes.
Tryphena,	“ Oct. 28,	1663, m. in 1685, James jr., son of James and Ann Philbrick.

THE WILL OF WILLIAM MARSTON, SR.,

THOMAS MARSTON, eldest son of William, Sr., was born in England (probably Yorkshire county), about May or June, 1617, and came to Salem, Mass., with his father in 1634, and went with him to Newbury about 1637; thence to Hampton, N. H., in October, 1638, where he married Mary Estow about 1647, a daughter of Wm. Estow, Esq. Being past twenty-one years of age, it is very probable that he had a grant of land from the General Court, as did the other pioneers; then he bought land of John Sanborn, May 25, 1645, and leased a house and lot from Robert Knight, which formerly belonged to Robert Marston, Oct. 5, 1653 (see deeds.) The provincial records show that he was a capable and highly esteemed citizen, and was prominent in the town's business affairs, and in all matters appertaining to the interests of the community. He died testate, in Hampton, Sept. 28, 1690, aged seventy-three years and about seven months, (See his will.) He had nine children.

DEPOSITION OF THOMAS MARSTON.

9. Thomas Marston, of Hampton, aged about 52 years, and Wm. Fifield, deposeth, that about 1654, when Seth Fletcher lived in Hampton, we were appointed to treat with Capt. Bryan Pendleton, and John Pickering in the behalf of the town of Portsmouth concerning the settling of the bounds between Hampton and Portsmouth, by the sea-side; and we, the said deponents, met the men above-said, and showed them the power that we had to act by, and they showed us their power, which was full and ample for the ends abovesaid; but the said Capt. Pendleton and Pickering did question the power given us by the town of Hampton, not to be sufficient for the attaining of the ends intended; whereupon the said Pendleton and Pickering stayed in Hampton until we obtained a meeting of the selectmen, and had full power to act in behalf of the town of Hampton; and then we, the said Marston and Fifield, did treat with the said Pendleton and Pickering, and after a treaty, we did agree and conclude,—that Hampton should begin to measure ten rods to the northward of the causeway that goeth over to the beach; and from there, 5 miles northward near the seaside.

Dated, Mar. 9th, 1669.

NOTE.—The above mentioned line was run in May, 1655, and it terminated at Jocelyn's neck, on the north side and next to it, northward of Long Stony Beach. (Records.)

THE FIRST WILL OF THOMAS MARSTON, SON OF ISAAC.

In the name of God, Amen. I, Thomas Marston, of Hampton, in the province of New Hampshire, in New England, farmer: being weak in body, but of sound and perfect memory, thanks be given to God for the same, and knowing the uncertainty of this life on earth, and being desirous to set all things in order, do make this my Last Will and Testament; in manner and form following, that is to say, first and principally I commend my soul to God, * * * * * and my body to the earth, from whence it was taken, to be buried in such decent and Christian manner as my executor, hereafter named shall deem proper and convenient; and as touching such worldly estates as the Lord in mercy hath lent me, my will and meaning is the same shall be bestowed and employed as hereafter expressed by this will. And first, I do revoke, renounce, and make void all wills by me formerly made, and hold and appoint this my Last Will and Testament.

My will is that all my just and honest debts, and funeral expenses be paid. I give and bequeath unto Lydia, my loving wife all my estate until my two sons, Nathan and Nathaniel, come of age; and when they become of age, all my lands, and marsh, and buildings are to be divided equally between them, except that at my father's; Nathan to divide, and Nathaniel to choose which part he will have:—and my wife to have the improvements of one-half of each of these parts so long as she shall remain a widow. And I give and bequeath unto Lydia, my loving wife all my stock of cattle of all kinds whatsoever, and movables to be disposed of by her to my three children, as wisdom shall direct her in her widowhood.

I give and bequeath unto my daughter Abigail the buildings and land on both sides of the way at my father's and mother's door, and also my two sons are to pay unto my daughter Abigail, fifty pounds apiece, within six years after they become of age.

I do make, constitute, and appoint Capt. Joshua Pearce of Portsmouth, and Simon Marston of Hampton to be my sole executors to this my Last Will and Testament; and in confirmation of the abovesaid, I, Thomas Marston, have hereunto, put my hand and affixed my seal, this thirty-first day of January, in the year of our Lord seventeen hundred and twenty-eight, in the first year of the reign of our sovereign lord, George the 2d, by the grace of God king of England, Scotland, France, and Ireland.

John and Mary (Tuck) Sanborn, and settled in Hampton, on the homestead, which his father devised to him by will. He was a farmer and a brewer, and had an orchard with a variety of fruits, even at that early day. His will and deeds prove that he was possessed of much real estate. He was one of the most distinguished citizens of the town; was a Representative to General Court for several years; was a Government Contractor, and took a prominent part in public affairs, for his name appears twenty-two times in the provincial public documents. He deeded to each of his sons a farm, and settled them in life; and to Jeremiah, the homestead and brewery, and all pertaining thereto. He died from a cancer Oct. 10, 1742, aged 88 years, 2 months. Abial, his widow, born Feb. 25, 1653, died Jan. 3, 1743, aged 90 years. He had nine children.

JOHN MARSTON,⁴ son of John,³ Ephraim,² Thomas,¹ William, Sr., was born in Hampton, N. H., July 24, 1713; m. Susanna Blake, June 23, 1736, of Hampton. He and John Blake purchased a large tract of land for £940, Jan. 13, 1740, in Falmouth, Me., in the locality known as Blackstrap Hill, his half of which he subsequently sold to his sons. He moved to Falmouth after said purchase, and prior to June 9, 1742, when he bought a thirty-six acre lot of James Bane (the same Susanna sold to Jasper in 1773). He bought another thirty-six acre lot on Presumpscot river in Falmouth, Dec. 16, 1742, as also a lot of upland on Falmouth neck, (now city of Portland). He was deputy sheriff at this date. He built a two story house at Portland, and kept tavern there till his decease, between Oct., 1769, and Oct., 1770. His widow then kept said tavern till 1774; then Brackett Marston, their son, kept it till 1781; then Daniel, his brother, kept it in 1782; this house was on the site now occupied by J. G. Hayes' hat store, and was moved across the street in 1833 to make room for the present substantial block of buildings. It was a very famous house in those days, and in it Captain Mowatt was kept prisoner after his capture on Munjoy Hill (by Col. Thompson), in June, 1775. This house is in a state of good preservation at the present time (1886). This John was the patriarch of the Cumberland County Marstons. He was in his 57th year at his decease. He left a will, but the record thereof was destroyed by the great fire of 1866. He had nine or ten children.

NOTE. This reg. (16th), experienced more hard fighting, and lost more men than any other from Maine. Of the original ten captains of this reg., Captain Marston was the only one left to be mustered out when their term of service had expired.

EXTRACTS FROM THE ADJ.-GEN.'S REPORT (BATTLE OF GETTYSBURGH, 1863, JULY 1ST, TO 4TH.)

* * * At this time (1st day), Col. Tilden's horse was shot from under him, and Capt. Waldron, Co. I, received a bullet in his breast. A charge was ordered, and the 16th, with their accustomed battle-shout, moved on a run across the open space between them and the enemy, driving hundreds of them into the line of the 13th Mass. Reg. on the right.

When the 1st corps began to fall back, the 16th was ordered to a position on the right, and to hold the Chambersburgh turnpike, until not a man was left alive. Two regiments had already been driven from this position. Col. Tilden saw the danger, but obeyed the order almost literally, for when at length the regiment gained Cemetery Hill, only five officers and thirty-five men remained.

On the 3d, this remnant of the 16th, Capt. Marston, commanding, was ordered to support the 2d corps, and while moving by flank a single shell bursting killed and wounded two officers and seven men.

At the close of the 4th, all that remained for duty, of 248 officers and men, who entered the engagement on the 1st inst., were two officers and fifteen men. A truly fearful record. N. W. M.

WILL OF SIMON MARSTON.

In the name of God, Amen. This 26th, day of April, 1735,. I. Simon, Marston, of Hampton, in the Province of N. H. in New England, being now weak in body, but of sound and perfect memory, praise be given to God for the same, and knowing the uncertainty of this life on earth, and being desirous to set things in order, do make this my Last Will and Testament, in manner and form following, that is to say; First and principally, I commend my soul to Almighty God my creator, assuredly believing that I shall receive full pardon and free remission of all my sins, and be saved by the precious death and merits of my blessed Saviour and Redeemer, Christ Jesus; and my body to the earth from whence it was taken;—to be buried in such decent and Christian manner as my executor, here in after named shall think meet and convenient;—and as touching such worldly estates as the Lord in mercy hath lent me, my will and meaning is that the same shall be employed and bestowed as hereafter by this my will is expressed; and first, I do revoke, renounce, and make void all wills by me formerly made, and declare and appoint this my Last Will and Testament.

Imprimis. I give and bequeath unto my beloved wife, Hannah, the east end of my dwelling-house, so long as she shall live, and the movables in my house, I give to my said wife, to do with them as she pleases; also 100wt of good pork, and 100wt of good beef, and ten bushels of Indian corn, and two bushels of wheat, or wheat and barley, and two bushels of malt, and two cows, to be kept for her, summer and winter, so long as she shall live; and five pounds of cotton wool, and five pounds of sheeps wool, and twelve cords of good wood, and one barrel of cyder; all the particulars abovementioned, I give to my said wife yearly, and every year, so long as she shall live. And I order my sons, viz, Jonathan Marston, and Daniel Marston, equally between them to find their said mother everything above-named, yearly, and every year so long as she shall live; and my said sons are to carry their mother to meeting when she is able to go. And whereas my said sons were to find their mother with five pounds of sheeps wool, yearly, I order them, in lieu of that, to find their mother with four sheeps, summer and winter, so long as she shall live.

Item. I give and bequeath unto my son Jonathan Marston the west end of my house where he now dwells, and the east end he is to have at his mothers death; and all the land where the house is, and the farm.

Item. I give unto my two sons, viz, Jonathan, and Daniel Marston, all my land, and meadow ground, and salt marsh, and thatch ground, according to quantity and quality, to be equally divided between them; and my stock of cattle, and sheep, and horses, and swine, and husbandry tools, to be equally divided between them.

Item. I give unto my daughter Sarah Dearborn, twelve pounds in specie, at money price, to be paid to her by my son Jonathan Marston, at his mothers decease.

Item. I give unto my daughter Deborah Nudd, twelve pounds in specie, at money price, to be paid to her by my son Daniel Marston, at his mothers decease.

Lastly. My will and meaning is that what debts and dues are from me, I order my two sons, Jonathan and Daniel Marston, to pay them equally between them; and what are due to me, they are to receive and have equally between them.

And I do appoint my above named wife, Hannah, and my two sons Jonathan and Daniel Marston, to be executors of this my last will and testament; and in confirmation hereof, I have hereunto set my hand and seal, the day and year abovementioned, in the eighth year of King George the 2nd. His reign over Great Britain,

BENJAMIN,

OF BARNSTABLE, CAPE COD, MASS.

JOHN MARSTON, SR., came to Salem, Mass., from Ormesby, town of Yarmouth, Norfolk Co., England, in the ship Rose, of Yarmouth, Capt. Wm. Andrews, Jr., registering his name April 11, 1637, servant of widow Mary Moulton, aged twenty years. But his American records make him two years older, and born in 1615. Married Aug. 4, 1640, Alice (supposed to be Alice Eden, aged twenty-one years then), who came from the same place, and in the same ship, at the same date as John did, and probably was affianced to him in England. She was registered as the servant of John Moulton, of Ormesby, aged eighteen years. He was a carpenter by trade, and at one time a member of the Quaker church, and fined for not complying with the rules of the established church. He united with the first church in Salem, June 9, 1640, and was made freeman, June 2, 1641. He had granted to him, by the town of Salem, a lot of land near Royal-side, April 20, 1646, also another grant, Aug. 31, 1649, of two little spots of marsh, lying near Mr. Scruggs, by "Goodie" King's land. His will was made Dec. 18, 1681, and he died the next day. His grave-stone in Charter st. Cemetery has this inscription: "Here lyeth ye body of John Marston, sen'or, aged 66 years, deceased December 19, 1681." He had ten children, baptized in First church.

CHAPTER FIRST.

SECTION SECOND.

THREE SONS OF JOHN OF SALEM,
EPHRAIM, MANASSEH AND BENJAMIN,
OF
SALEM, MANCHESTER, DANVERS, MARBLEHEAD, AND VICINITY.

SECOND GENERATION.

EPHRAIM MARSTON,² second son of John of Ormesby, Eng. (then of Salem), was born in Salem, Mass., Oct. 30, 1643; md. Elizabeth, about 1672, and resided in Salem till about 1678; then settled in Manchester, where he died prior to July 18, 1698, when guardianship of his son Samuel, aged about fifteen years, was granted to Manasseh Marston, blacksmith, of Salem, his uncle. Said Ephraim was a mill-wright. He was not conspicuous in the early history of his father's family, for his name is found but twice in the public records, and was not mentioned in his father's will. There is barely enough trace of the next two generations to follow the line. Only three children on record.

Ephraim, born May 24, 1673, supposed died young.

Samuel, " Oct. 2, 1676, died young.

Samuel, " 1683, in Manchester.

 THIRD GENERATION.

EPHRAIM MARSTON,³ son of Ephraim,² John,¹ was born in Salem, Mass., May 24, 1673, and evidently died young, as there is no further mention of him to be found in the records. Exit.

SAMUEL MARSTON,³ son of Ephraim,² John,¹ was born in Manchester, Mass. (or Salem), in the fall of 1683, and was put under guardianship of his uncle Manasseh, of Salem, July 18, 1698, when about fifteen years old. It is quite evident that he married, and settled in Manchester or Topsfield, and had some children, one of whom was Samuel, born not far from 1708.

NOTE. "Mr. Marston & wife were admitted to the church in Topsfield, 'before ye next sacrament day' after the one observed Aug. 30, 1724 [about Oct.]" — Ch. Rec. by Rev. Joseph Capen.

This was eight years before Samuel⁴ was married to Hannah Gould, hence it is evident he was married, and also was a member of the church in Topsfield.

FOURTH GENERATION.

SAMUEL MARSTON,⁴ supposed son of Samuel,³ Ephraim,² John,¹ was born, probably, in Topsfield, Mass., about 1708; md. Hannah Gould, July 9, 1732, of Boxford, daughter of John and Hannah Gould, and settled in Topsfield. It appears by the town record, that he enlisted during the old French war, in Capt. Britton's Co., June 6, 1745, and served in the army in 1745, '46, and '47; then in 1750, '51 and '52, and again in 1755, '56 and '57, and, by the church records, died in war in 1757, aged about 48 years. He was not taxed while in the army, and the tax assessed in the interim, was remitted. Ephraim Towne* was appointed guardian of his son Dudley (past 14 years of age), Nov. 23, 1761. Six of these eight children are recorded as his, and we know of no father for Samuel⁵ and Ephraim,⁵ beside him. For further proofs see notes. His children born about as follows:

Samuel,	born about	1733,	died in war,	1756.
Ruth,	“	“	1735, md. Bimsley Peabody,	1754.
Hannah,	“	“	1737.
Elizabeth,	“	“	1739, died Sept. 23,	1741.
Anna,	“	“	1741, died Sept. 17,	1741.
Amos,	“	“	1744.
Dudley,	“	“	1746.
Ephraim,	“	“	1749.

NOTE. Ruth, daughter of Samuel⁴, married Bimsley Peabody, Nov. 12, 1754. He lived in Middleton and in Boxford, and served in Maj. Preble's company in Nova Scotia, 1755 (old French War). They had eleven children.

NOTE. “At the close of the list for 1756 is twelve names, then is added Samuel Marston, Samuel Tapley and David Prichard, who died in ye war,—15. [We suppose this the younger Samuel. For 1757, eight deaths are recorded, then is added,] In ye war yt died also, in ye year 1757, Joseph Edwards, Thomas Perkins, Jr., Jacob Wildes, and Samuel Marston. We make ye No. amount to twelve.”
Church Records.

*NOTE. Ephraim, probably a brother to Phebe Towne, 2d wife of John Gould, married June 23, 1715. First wife died April 25, 1712, thirteen days after Hannah's birth.

FIFTH GENERATION.

AMOS MARSTON,⁵ son of Samuel,⁴ Samuel,³ Ephraim,² John,¹ was born in Topsfield, Mass., about 1744-5, and went to Tewksbury about 1769, being taxed in Topsfield in 1768; md. Judith Thorndike, in 1774, in Tewksbury, and died there in 1824, aged nearly 80 years. Had eight children.

Anna,	born Oct. 4, 1775, md. Mr. Morey.
Samuel,	“ Feb. 10, 1779.
Judith,	“ June 7, 1780, died young.
Dudley,	“ May 11, 1782.
Judith,	“ 1784, md. Josiah French.
Amos,	“ Feb. 1786.
Jeremiah,	“ 1790.	[52, s.
Herbert,	“ 1795, died Oct. 13, 1847, aged

DUDLEY MARSTON,⁵ son of Samuel,⁴ Samuel,³ Ephraim,² John,¹ was born in Topsfield, Mass., about A. D. 1746, and was put under guardianship of Ephraim Towne*, Nov. 23, 1761, being then past fourteen years of age; after this we find no further record. Exit.

*See note on page 509.

EPHRAIM MARSTON,⁵ son of Samuel,⁴ Samuel,³ Ephraim,² John,¹ was born in Topsfield, Mass., probably about A. D. 1749, and we suppose him to be Ensign Ephraim, who was killed, with forty-three others, at Minnisk (Goshen), N. Y., July 22, 1779, by a band of sixty Indians, under the notorious chief Brandt. A monument was erected to their memory July 22, 1822, whereon their names are inscribed.

He also built dams and constructed canals on contract. He built the first dam that was made in Dunstable, now Nashua and a large manufacturing center. He took an active part in the management of the town's official business, was captain in the state militia, and marched with his company to Boston in the war of 1812. He was a distinguished and influential leader in politics, and he made his paper an organ of his political party, the Jeffersonian Democrats. As an editor he was sharp and incisive, yet full of keen, genial wit and good humor, so that his political opponents speak very kindly of him as a citizen. In addition to his legal practice, he was a member of the State Legislature in 1846 and 1847, and was Judge of Probate for the county of Washington, Vt., two terms, also serving in other capacities. He married Miranda C. Dodge, Dec. 22, 1833, in Montpelier, Vt., where his three children were born, but subsequently, when about fifty years old, he moved to Madison, Wis., where he died Feb. 16, 1883, aged 76 yrs. 3 mos., after almost fifty years of married life. Patience Rogers, April 15, 1696, daughter of Rev. John and Elizabeth (Denison) Rogers, of Ipswich, and settled in Salem, where for many years he was an enterprising and successful merchant, and accumulated a large amount of real estate, for those days (see his deeds). In 1696, he was chosen deputy to represent the town at General Court, and was one of the selectmen, as also a deacon of the 1st church, and one of the principal men of the town. In 1700, he built a brick house on the corner of Essex and Crombie streets, the first built in Salem, and at that day considered an elegant residence. At this date he owned two large warehouses, and the wharves whereon they stood, and much other real estate, both in and out of the town. However, after 1708, his early success deserted him, and his fortunes began to wane. Losses at sea by pirates, and the wild elements of nature, and other reverses on shore compelled him to mortgage his real estate, from time to time, and finally, in 1719, he was obliged to mortgage his beautiful homestead mansion to Col. Samuel Brown. At this date, partly for a relief from the care of business, which was undermining his health, he, with his son Benjamin, took passage in one of his own vessels, the brigantine Essex, Robert Peat, master, bound to Falmouth, Me., to load for Cork, Ireland. After much delay, and a long passage, they arrived at Cork, where they discharged, then proceeded to Dublin, where Mr. Marston was taken sick with the small-pox, and died about Sept. 17, 1719, aged above 69 years. He made his will May 1, 1719, before leaving home. He had five children.

THIRD GENERATION.

COL. BENJAMIN MARSTON,³ son of Benjamin,² John,¹ was born in Salem, Mass., Feb. 24, 1697; md. 1st, Mehitable Gibbs, in 1725, a daughter of Rev. Henry Gibbs, of Watertown, born Jan. 8, 1706; 2d, Elizabeth Winslow, Nov. 20, 1729, a daughter of Hon. Isaac and Sarah (Wensley) Winslow, of Marshfield, born Dec. 13, 1707. He entered Harvard College in 1711, and graduated in 1715. In 1719, he accompanied his father on his voyage in the Essex to Ireland; which proved fatal to the father, and nearly so to the son, both from the small-pox and the terrible gales encountered on his return in the same vessel, the next spring. He said "the brig was an able sea-boat, and a half of ye vessels of Salem would have perished, if they had been there." Being the only surviving son, his father devised to him his whole estate, and by skillful enterprise, he succeeded in establishing his business on a firm basis, and became a wealthy and honorable merchant, redeeming much of the property that his father had mortgaged. It appears that he retired from active mercantile business after some twenty years, for he moved to Marblehead for a while; thence, about 1745, to Manchester, and settled on a farm, which he enlarged by purchases from time to time, until it became a place of much note, called "Marston's Farm." He was a man of good education, and endowed with great natural abilities. He represented Salem in the General Court in 1727 and 1728. In 1737 he was high sheriff of Essex county; was colonel of state militia; as also justice of the court of common pleas, and of the general sessions. He died May 22, 1754, aged 57 years 3 months, and was buried in Manchester. His will was made April 23, 1754, and proved July 11, 1754. He had nine children, all by second wife.

NOTE. Their mother, Elizabeth, was a daughter of Hon. Isaac Winslow, and a granddaughter of Josiah and Penelope (Pelham) Winslow. Said Josiah, born in 1629, was a son of Edward Winslow, born in 1595, a May Flower pilgrim, and first Governor of the Plymouth Colony.

BENJ. MARSTON. { L. S. }

FOURTH GENERATION.

BENJAMIN MARSTON,⁴ son of Benjamin,³ Benjamin,² John,¹ was born in Salem, Mass., Sept. 30, 1730; md. Sarah Swett, Nov. 13, 1755, a daughter of Joseph and (2d w.) Hannah Swett, of Marblehead, where he settled, and engaged in mercantile pursuits in company with Robert Hooper and Jeremiah Lee, who md. daughters of Joseph Swett also. He was a wealthy merchant, beside owning much real estate in Manchester and Salem. He graduated at Harvard College, in 1749, and was qualified for all public business; was chosen moderator fourteen times in eight years, 1766 to 1774; was selectman and overseer of poor, thirteen times in fifteen years; and filled many other positions of public trust, being a popular leader in all matters pertaining to the public welfare. He led a pure life of unostentatious piety, his integrity of character commanding the highest respect and esteem of his fellow townsmen. In his private life he was kind, social and hospitable. In 1776, when the colonies revolted, he sided with the Royalists, and quietly withdrew to the provinces, leaving his estate with his wife, who died not long afterward; then Marston Watson, nephew, was chosen agent for his estate, July 28, 1778. He lived in Shelburne and in Halifax, N. S., and in St. John, N. B., for a while, engaging in his former vocation; but during one of his voyages, he was taken prisoner by the Americans and sent to Boston, and retained till exchanged, when he returned to Halifax. It appears that he lost all of his property during the war, and was ever after dependent upon his personal efforts for his subsistence. In 1787, he made a last visit to his friends and kindred in Boston and Plymouth; then embarked for London, where he was reduced to lowly circumstances for a while. In 1792, a company was organized in England to make a settlement on the island of Bulama, twenty miles from Sierra Leone, on the west coast of Africa, and Benjamin Marston was engaged to accompany them as surveyor. But this expedition proved very unfortunate, and failed to establish the proposed colony; for shortly after they were located, the African fever seized them, and of the original company of two hundred and seventy-five souls, only a few escaped alive from this mortal disease, and those abandoned the enterprise, and returned home. Among those deceased was Mr. Marston, Aug. 10, 1792, whose loss was severely felt by the company, for they esteemed him very highly. He had no children. Exit.

NOTE. In this branch of John's family the three Benjamins were all of the males who lived to adult age; and as the last died without issue, this branch terminates here.

For further particulars see Rev. John Watson's "Memoirs of the Three Benjamins," of Salem.

HONORED MOTHER.

Just now arrived here a Marblehead sloop, homeward bound, tomorrow morning early; so yt I have time to give you but a slender acct. of our affairs; . . that time 24 hours we weighed anchor, we came to [anchor] again at Casco, being favored with a prosperous gale. We had no sooner arrived but were ready to be devoured by musketoes;—were obliged, all hands, to walk to and fro the deck the whole night. . . . We hauled on shore our vessel, cleansed her, threw ye ballast out, and yesterday began to load. Our men work very briskly, and I hope we shall be loaden in a short time. . . . I am sorry you should sitt so long on ye house for no advantage, but perhaps to the prejudice of your health. . . . Your dutiful son,
BENJ. MARSTON, JR.

[Mrs. Marston remained on the house, or porch roof, as long as the vessel was in sight, when they sailed from Salem.]

CORK, IN IRELAND, Sept. 9th, 1719.

HONORED MADAM.

These come to acquaint you that on the 7th day of this instant, we safly arrived in the harbour of Kingsale. We met with abundance of extream bad weather, but it has pleased God to preserve us. I was not at all sick on our passage. My father and I are in very good health. We design to proceed to Dublin with our vessel ye first wind, where we are in couraged that we shall come to a good market. . . . We met two dreadful storms on ye coast just before we arrived. So bad they were, that half ye vessels in Salem would have perished if they had been in our stead, but ye vessel's proving a wonderful good sea boat was ye means of our preservation, under God. Ye inhabitants of Cork & Kingsale lookt upon us as men raised from ye dead, such was ye violence of ye weather. . . .

BENJ. MARSTON, JR.

DUBLIN, IRELAND Nov. 6th, 1719.

HONORED MADAM.

This comes with unwelcome news of the death of my father, who was taken with ye smal-pox and died in about ten days after our arrival. The night he died I was taken ill of the same distemper, and was dangerously sick, but by God's providence recovered, and am in good health, through mercy. Our cargo amounts to about £300 sterling. I have a prospect of passengers, and hope to be at home in May next. I am not disfigured nor much markt with the smal-pox. . . . &c., &c.

BENJ. MARSTON JR.

NOTE. This letter did not reach Salem until the last of April, 1720. However, a ship from London brought the sad intelligence to Mrs. Marston, Dec. 10, 1719. The Essex sailed from Salem on or near the 5th of June, 1719, and returning, left Dublin June 16th, 1720, arriving at Salem Aug. 22d, 1720, after a stormy passage of sixty-seven days.

The daughters of Benjamin and Elizabeth Marston were quite famous in the history of the family, and merit a special notice in this work.

1. Elizabeth was born Nov. 4, 1731, married in 1756, William Watson, son of John and Priscilla (Thomas) Watson of Plymouth, Mass., and resided there. Mr. Watson was born in Plymouth, May 6th, 1730, graduated at Harvard College in 1751, and died April 22, 1815, aged 84 years. He was the first postmaster of Plymouth, being elected to said office in 1775. He was a zealous patriot, and in 1789 was appointed Coll. of Plymouth by General Washington, and held that office till 1803. They had four children, 1st, William; 2d, Eliza, who married Hon. Nathaniel Niles; 3d, Benjamin; 4th, Ellen, who married Hon. John Davis, Judge of U. S. Dist. Court of Mass.

2. Patience was born Jan. 2, 1733, married Elkanah Watson, brother to William, Oct. 7, 1754, and died April 20, 1767. Her husband was born in Plymouth, Feb. 2, 1732; merchant. He moved to Freetown, and lived on a farm during the Revolution, but subsequently returned to Plymouth, where he died Aug. 11, 1804. They had five children: Marston, born May 27, 1756, died in Boston, August 7, 1800; Elkanah, born Jan. 22, 1758, died Dec. 5, 1842; Priscilla, born Sept. 30, 1760, died Oct. 28, 1859; Martha, born October, 1762, died Aug. 22, 1840; Lucia, born Nov. 11, 1765, died March 20, 1791.

3. Lucia, born Feb., 1748, md. in 1769, John Watson, a son of John and Elizabeth (Reynold) Watson. Mr. Watson was born in Plymouth in 1747; died in Feb., 1826. Graduated at Harvard College in 1766. He was one of the founders of the old Colony Club, in 1769, and was its last surviving member. He was also vice-president of the Pilgrim Society; and after the death of Judge Thomas, was elected its president, and served till his decease. They had ten children,—John, George, Sarah, Benjamin, Lucia (died), Lucia, William (died), William, Winslow, and Brooke. Mr. J. Watson md. 2d Mrs. Eunice (Marston) Goodwin, who was a daughter of Col. John Marston of Boston, and sister to the late John Marston, Esq. (The said J. Marston, Esq., was the father of the late Admiral John Marston, U. S. N.) Three children by this union were Edward Winslow, Eliza Ann and Albert Mortimer. Her children by 1st marriage were John Marston and Harriet La Barron Goodwin.

CHAPTER SECOND (in four sections).

HISTORY OF

WILLIAM, of Salem,
JOHN, the Mariner, of Salem,
NATHANIEL, of New York,
AND
MISCELLANEOUS FAMILIES.

SECTION FIRST (of Chapter Second).

WILLIAM MARSTON (brother of John).

FIRST GENERATION.

WILLIAM MARSTON, a brother of John of Ormesby, was born in England, not far from 1628, and came to Salem some years after John, we conjecture, for the records give us but little of his history. However, they show us that he resided on a lot adjoining his brother John until 1686; then removed to where High street is now. He was a master-mariner. Married Sarah, about 1652. She was admitted to the 1st church in 1657. At what time he died does not appear. Had eight children.

Sarah,	born Dec. 12, 1653, died July 19, 1665.

William,	“ Sept. 19, 1665, died young.

SECOND GENERATION.

WILLIAM MARSTON,² son of William, brother of John, was baptized in 1st church, Salem, Sept. 20, 1668; md. Elizabeth Hill, Sept. 24, 1690, daughter of Zebulon and Elizabeth Hill, and settled in Salem, where he died in 1700, aged 32 years. Had three children.

William, born Feb. 14, 1692.

Benjamin, “ Dec. 18, 1694, supposed died young.

Elizabeth, “ Aug. 25, 1700, md. Benj. Butman, 1725.

THOMAS MARSTON,² son of William, brother of John, was born in Salem, Mass., in 1670; md. Elizabeth Colliver, June 4, 1694, of Marblehead, and, settled in old Salem. He also was a master-mariner, and sailed in the ketch Exchange, owned by Timothy Lindall, Esq., of Salem, which was captured by the French, off Block Island, Aug. 6, 1697, and subsequently ransomed for £260. He died in 1702, aged about 32 years, leaving four children.

Elizabeth, born July 28, 1695.

Sarah, “ 1697, died aged 5 months.

Thomas, “ Mar. 1699.

George, “ Aug. 19, 1702, died 17 days after.

His will was made Oct. 12, 1700, and proved Sept. 26, 1702.

He gave to his son Thomas, his dwelling-house, and lot belonging to it; a silver tankard of 30 ozs.; 2 silver spoons of 4 ozs.; a looking-glass, 18 in. sqr.; and mine own gun, in value £4.

To dau. Elizabeth, 110 poles of land; 2d best feather-bed, and furniture; 2 silver spoons, 4 ozs.; and a looking-

In case she should have another heir, it shall share equally with son Thomas, or daughter Elizabeth (as to sex); to Manasseh Marston, my cousin, £6; and appointed him for executor. . . . [But Manasseh died about the same time, and his wife declining to administer, Philip English was appointed in her stead].—Records.

THIRD GENERATION.

WILLIAM MARSTON,³ son of William,² William,¹ was born in Salem, Mass., Feb. 14, 1792, and there is no further certain record of him, but it is probable that the following were a part of his children.

Elizabeth, born about 1714, md. Daniel Henderson.

Edmund, “ “ 1720.

Susanna, “ “ 1722, md. Simon Grosse, 1742.

FOURTH GENERATION.

EDMUND MARSTON,⁴ supposed son of William,³ William,² William,¹ was born in Salem, Mass., about 1720; md. Mary Elizabeth Sibbee, May 8, 1743. There is no definite record of his children, but it is quite evident that he had a son William, and other children, as below.

William, born about 1745.

Damaris, “ “ 1754, md. William Cook, 1774.

Hannah, “ “ 1756, md. Jonathan Glover, 1776.

FIFTH GENERATION.

WILLIAM MARSTON,⁵ son of Edmund,⁴ William,³ William,² William,¹ was born in Salem, about A. D. 1745; md. 1st, not known; supposed md. 2d, Mary Ford, Sept. 1, 1793. The following are supposed to be his children.

William, born about 1770.

Mary, “ “ 1772, md. Stephen Daniel, 1792.

Rebecca, “ “ 1774, md. John Atkinson, 1794.

Esther, “ “ 1776, md. Benjamin Pike, 1796.

SIXTH GENERATION.

WILLIAM MARSTON,⁶ son of William,⁵ Edmund,⁴ William,³ William,² William,¹ was born in Salem, about 1770; md. Lydia Mungrell, Dec. 1, 1793. No further record, but perhaps that Lydia who married Robert R. Phippen, March 5, 1832, was his daughter.

Exit this branch.

CHAPTER SECOND (in four parts).

SECTION TWO (in two parts).

JOHN, THE MARINER,

OF SALEM,

HIS THREE SONS,

JOHN, JAMES AND NATHANIEL.

Part First of Section Two.

JOHN AND JAMES.

FIRST GENERATION.

Besides John and William of Ormesby, there was another Marston in Salem at an early date, whose name was John, and his vocation a master-mariner. The only individual record we find of him is the following: "John Marston, plaintiff, vs. Capt. Thomas Clarke, in an action of the case for non-payment of £6 for freight of six pieces of wine, containing three tunn, from Barbadoes to Boston, according to bill of loading, with due damages according to attachment. The jury finde for the plaintiff £6 5s. damages. 30. 9, 1658."—Co. Ct. Rec.

This branch being chiefly mariners, fishermen and such like vocations, resided near the seaboard, at Salem harbor and Marblehead. They were not wealthy, nor owners of much real estate, therefore we can learn but little of them from the Co. Ct. records; and the only other resource is the town and church records, and these are incomplete and obscure, so that it is impossible to class some of these early families with much certainty at this late day. The best that we now can do is to approximate them by dates of births and marriages, and put the doubtful names in italics.

There were two other Marstons in the vicinity of Salem, contemporary with John, the mariner, and perhaps his brothers. Comvirt, or Converse, who resided in Manchester, and paid church rates, 2s. 6d. in 1674, and Samuel who lived in Andover, and was selectman in 1685. There is no other record of those two, nor anything to show that they left issue, but John or some other, has a numerous posterity. As to the head of this branch I can only conjecture, that John, a brother of Robert and William, Sr., of Hampton, N. H., came with them as far as Salem, and these were his sons.

FIRST GENERATION.

JOHAN MARSTON, the master-mariner, whoever's son he may be, was probably born in England, about 1628 to 1632, and brought to Salem by his parents prior to 1637, probably 1634, for I learn that it is recorded in the Gen. Reg. that the first John had a son James, who married Elizabeth, &c. (See James²). And as there were some others about his age, we may reasonably suppose them to be his brothers and sister. Therefore we reckon as John the mariner's children.

John, or some name, born about 1660.

James, born about 1662, to 1665.

William, “ “ 1665, to 1667.

Mary, born in 1670, died in 1745, aged 70 yrs.
 Nathaniel, " about 1675, to 1678.
 Hannah, " 1677, to 1680, m. Elias Trask, 1701.
 Fam. Rec. of Admrl. Jn. Marston's gr.-father.
 Probably there were other children, who died young.

SECOND GENERATION.

JOHN MARSTON,² or unknown, son of John,¹ the mariner, was born in Salem about A. D. 1660; md.* Priscilla, about 1682-3, who had five children baptized in the First Church, Salem, in June, 1693, and perhaps a son Christopher previously. I apprehend that John was then dead, as the children were accredited to the mother. Probably he was a mariner, as he had no real estate recorded. The children were born about as follows, supposing Christopher to be his also.

Christopher, born about 1683-4.
 Susanna, " " 1685-6.
 John, " " 1687.
 Hannah, " " 1689.
 Margaret, " " 1691.
 Elizabeth, " " 1693.

*John supposed to be the husband of Priscilla.

JAMES MARSTON,² son of John,¹ the mariner, was born in that part of Salem since incorporated Marblehead, about A. D. 1665, and I apprehend he followed the sea as a vocation, as we do not find his name on the Co. Ct. record. It appears that he lived to a great age, as his children and grand-children disposed of a small lot of land in Salem, which they were heirs to, Feb. 24, 1762. We learn that his wife's name was Elizabeth; had ten children. Probably the twins were named for their grandfathers.

John,	born Dec. 9, 1689, died young.
Nathaniel,	" Dec. 9, 1689, died prior to 1762.
James,	" Dec. 27, 1691, died prior to 1762.
Elizabeth,	" Jan. 19, 1694, died prior to 1762.
John,	" July 3, 1696.
Ephraim,	" about 1698, d. in Falmouth, Me., 1719.
Mary,	" " 1700, md. Richard Doust, 1724.
Hannah,	" " 1703, md. John Punchard, 1730.
Ruth,	" " 1705, md. Alex. Tarrant, 1730.
Abial,	" " 1707, md. Joseph Dyer, Boston.

THIRD GENERATION.

CHRISTOPHER MARSTON,³ supposed son of John,² John,¹ the mariner, was born about 1683 or 1684, according to record of births in Salem. His wife's name was Rebecca, and it appears that he resided in Charlestown, as we find three of his children baptized there; two Sept. 6, 1719, and one Oct. 1, 1727, and probably others not recorded. Said children born as follows.

John,	born about A. D. 1715.
Christopher,	" " A. D. 1718.
Rebecca,	" " A. D. 1727. [Gen. Reg.]

NATHANIEL MARSTON,³ son of James,² John,¹ the mariner, was born in Salem, Mass., Dec. 9, 1689, and was residing in Falmouth, Me., in 1725 (see his deeds). His wife, probably, was Mary Clewly, daughter of Joseph Clewly, of Roxbury, Mass. She was a widow Nov. 18, 1755, when she and Elizabeth Clewly, heirs and only children of Joseph Clewly, signed a Q. C. deed, rec. in York Co., Me. Mary Marston, widow, in behalf of her children, signed a deed with the brothers and sisters of said Nathaniel, Feb. 26, 1762, and is supposed to be his widow. Perhaps the following may be his children referred to by widow Mary.

Elizabeth, born about 1713, md. Daniel Henderson, 1733.

Mary, “ “ 1715.

A child, “ “ 1717.

Edmund, “ “ 1720.

Susanna, “ “ 1722, md. Simon Grosse, 1742.

NOTE. We cannot tell to which family Edmund and Susanna belong, Nathaniel's or William's.

JAMES MARSTON,³ son of James,² John,¹ the mariner, was born in Salem, Mass., Dec. 27, 1691; md. Sarah, about 1722, and settled in Salem. He was a mariner; name not in Co. Rec'd. Had ten children baptized in First Church, Salem. He must have died prior to 1762, for he did not sign the Q. C. deed, but his children signed it.

Sarah, born Sept. 1, 1723, died prior to 1762.

Elizabeth, “ Aug. 15, 1725, md. Mr. Wilkins, Boston.

James, “ Aug. 6, 1727.

Manasseh, “ Dec. 29, 1728, died young.

Manasseh, “ Feb. 8, 1730.

Esther, “ June 6, 1731, m. And'w Lepar, Boston.

Mary, “ May 20, 1733, md. John Brock, M-hd.

Nathaniel, “ Mar. 16, 1735.

Hannah, “ Apr. 10, 1737, died prior to 1762.

Susanna, “ Feb. 25, 1739, single in 1762.

JOHN MARSTON,³ son of James,² John,¹ the mariner, was born in Salem, Mass., July 3, 1696; md. Mercy Flint, Feb. 1, 1727, and settled in Salem. He must have married a second time, for in 1771 his wife's name was Elizabeth. He was a blacksmith and a gunsmith, and was in the army at Louisburg, Cape Breton, N. S., in Capt. Edward Williams' company, Nov. 20, 1745. He drilled out the guns which the French had spiked before they retired from the fortifications. His wife and four children were baptized at the First Church, Salem, Aug. 5, 1742, and two more children at the Tabernacle Church, Nov. 22, 1747. The daughters are not given.

John,	born about 1728.
Zechariah,	“ “ 1731.
Benjamin,	“ “ 1734.
Joseph,	“ “ 1737, supposed died young.
A daughter,	“ “ 1740.
Thomas,	“ “ 1742.
Jeptha,	“ “ 1744.
David,	“ “ 1746.
William,	“ “ 1748.

EPHRAIM MARSTON,³ son of James,² John,¹ the mariner, was born in Salem, Mass., A. D. 1697-8, and went to Falmouth, York county, now Portland, Me., where he died in 1719, aged about 21 years. Exit.

FOURTH GENERATION.

EDMUND MARSTON,⁴ supposed son of Nathaniel,³ James,² John,¹ the mariner, or some one now unknown, had these three children, who resided in Salem, viz., William, Mary and Abial, and perhaps others, who died before said William made his will. We cannot identify these three, and all that we vouch for is they resided in Salem.

JAMES MARSTON,⁴ son of James,³ James,² John,¹ the mariner, was bapt. in Salem, Mass., Aug. 6, 1727. No record of any marriage or children. He was a mariner and resided in Salem in 1762, when he signed the Q. C. deed with eleven of his relatives. He is supposed to be the James who was in Col. Moses' Reg. in the Louisburg expedition, Nov. 20, 1745. One William Marston was in this regiment. Exit James.

MANASSEH MARSTON,⁴ son of James,³ James,² John,¹ the mariner, was born in Salem, Mass., Feb. 8, 1730; md Terriah He was a cooper by trade, but followed the sea when young. He settled in Boston subsequently to 1762, and worked at his trade. Died in Nov., 1791, aged 61 years 10 months. His will was made Nov. 4, 1791, and proved Nov. 15, 1791. He left three sons.

- James, born about 1754.
- David, " " 1756.
- Nathaniel, " " 1758.

my estate, real, personal, and mixed, I give to my two sons, David and Nathaniel, at the same time advising them that they take care of James, John, and Elizabeth, chr. of my son James, that they be clothed, educated, and apprenticed to some good trade, in such a manner as children in their circumstances generally are.

He devised all of his estate, real, personal and mixed, to his wife Sarah, and appointed her sole executrix. He left no issue. Exit.

Anna Girdler, Aug. 6, 1752, at Marblehead, and settled there; voc., shoreman, probably a boat fisherman, the term then not signifying what it now does. He died in August, 1769, aged about 41 years. many years in Salem, on Andrew street; then removed to Portland, Me., where he died in 1816-17, aged about 87 years. Of his children we can identify only Zechariah, Jr., but we presume he had others.

NATHANIEL MARSTON,⁵ son of Manasseh,⁴ James,³ James,² John,¹ the mariner, was born in Boston about 1758, and was living in 1791, as per will of Manasseh, his father. I apprehend it was his son, the Nathaniel Marston born July 4, 1780, in Boston, who went to Machias, Me., in 1800 with Gen. Cooper, and settled there.

JOHN MARSTON,⁵ son of John,⁴ John,³ James,² John,¹ the mariner, was bapt. in St. Michael's church, Marblehead, Aug. 10, 1755. No record of any children in any church. Exit.

BENJAMIN MARSTON,⁵ son of John,⁴ John,³ James,² John,¹ the mariner, was bapt. in St. Michael's church, Marblehead, Mass., June 5, 1757. He, we suppose, is the Benjamin taken from the brig Fancy, by the British, in Aug. 1777, and committed to Mill prison, Eng. Exit.

He was placed on the retired list Dec. 21, 1861. He served successively on board the frigates President, Washington, Java, brig Prometheus, frigates Constellation, Constitution, Congress, and the Brandywine, when she took General Lafayette home to France. He was a very prominent and efficient officer in our navy during the most critical period of the late civil war, and to him the nation is more indebted than to any one man for the final triumph of its arms over the rebellious south. At the beginning of the civil war, he was in command of the Cumberland, which was sunk by the Merrimac, and at that time he was in command of the Union squadron, the Roanoke being his flag-ship. The Merrimac was now ready for active hostilities, and had made a dash at our wooden navy in Hampton Roads, and crushed it at one blow, which sent consternation to the national heart; but, during the night the Monitor arrived, and the Admiral was ordered to send her to Washington to protect the Capitol. Just then the Merrimac hove in sight; he realized the critical situation, and sent for Capt. Worden, to whom he said: "I have been ordered to send you to Washington, but I shall disobey my instructions, and order you to attack the Merrimac." The result of this engagement is too familiar to every American to need being repeated here. It was a desperate chance, but wisdom and valor steered it safely unto victory. After the war he was appointed inspector of light-houses in Boston district, and of the Portsmouth and Philadelphia navy yards. He was a man of superior physical powers, and preserved the vigor of youth and all his mental faculties unimpaired till past four score years. He was kind and affable in all his relations in life, to which the writer can bear witness. He married Mrs. Elizabeth Wilcox, about 1830, and soon after settled in Philadelphia, where he died April 9, 1885, aged 89 years 42 days. He had five children.

CHAPTER SECOND (in four sections).

SECTION THIRD.

NATHANIEL,
OF FLUSHING, L. I., AND NEW YORK CITY.

FIRST GENERATION.

NATHANIEL MARSTON,¹ the patriarch of the New York branch bearing this name, was born in England about 1600, and was of the Leicestershire family. He went out to Providence Island, one of the Bahamas, in 1628, in some official capacity for the Crown, as is attested by the records. In 1639, he removed to Long Island, N. Y., and settled at Flushing. He had a brother John, who also settled there, and had a grant of land there from the government in 1645. This is all the record we find of John. Nathaniel's wife's name was Mary, and they had a son named John, born about 1630 to 1635, and probably several others.

SECOND GENERATION.

JOHN MARSTON,² son of Nathaniel,¹ was born probably on Providence Island, about A. D. 1630 to 1635; and was reared at Flushing, L. I., where he married Anna Legg, about 1657, and of their children was a son Nathaniel, born in 1665, and probably John, born in 1658.

THIRD GENERATION.

JOHN MARSTON,³ sup. son of John,² Nathaniel,¹ was born about 1658, and married Gertie Bloetgoet (Gertie Bloodgood), who was born in Amsterdam, Holland, in 1659, a daughter of Capt. Fraas Jansen Bloetgoet, who came to New Amsterdam (New York), in 1659, and settled at Flushing, L. I. [Riker's History of Harlem, or N. Y.]]

He was among the most prominent citizens of that day, and was one of the original vestrymen of Trinity Church, serving from 1697 to 1731. He also helped to build the first church at New Rochelle. He died in 1737, aged about 72 years. Had six children.

signified very much in that day. His will was made Feb. 8, 1776, and he died Oct. 21, 1778, aged 74 years 7 mos. He had six children.

His only children were two daughters. Mary, born about 1757, married Capt Frederic Philipse, of Westchester, N. Y., March 20, 1777, her cousin, and a son of Philip and Margaret (Marston) Philipse. 3, Nathaniel Philipse graduated at King's College (now Columbia College), N. Y., in 1773, and entered the Royal army as ensign, of the 17th Reg. He was wounded in the battle of Princeton, and again at Germantown, and died in Philadelphia, Oct. 6, 1777, aged about 22 years. [History of Westchester Co.]

Mary Philipse, a daughter of Hon. Frederic Philipse, and a sister of Philip, was born about 1727, at Philipse Manor, Westchester county, N. Y., and married Col. Morris. This was the lady for whom Gen. Washington formed so strong an attachment, and would have made his bride if she had accepted him. But her social position was too far above "George" at that date. In 1750 the families of Philipse and Lispenard held the same rank relatively, in wealth and aristocratic society, that the Vanderbilts and Astors do at this time (1887).

In 1703 Monsieur Philipse (father of Hon. Frederic), proprietor of the Philipse Manor, was reputed to be the wealthiest person in the American colonies; amount, $150,000.

MARSTONS OF JAMAICA, QUEENS CO., L. I.

[From Wills recorded in the Surrogate Office.]

Francis,	born,	prob.,	about	1760,	unmarried.
Elizabeth,	“	“	“	1762,	md. David Smith, Esq.
Maria,	“	“	“	1764,	md. Jacob Bergen.
Simon,	“	“	“	1766,	m. Elizabeth (had chr.)
John,	“	“	“	1770,	md. Margaret Rhodes.

Of the above family, Francis died in 1805; his will was made Feb. 2, 1805, and proved May 25, 1805. The legatees were his brother Simon, Simon's wife, Elizabeth and their children, brother John and his wife Margaret, his two sisters and their children.

All that we know of Simon is what Francis mentions in his will, as above written.

John died testate in 1832; his will was made May 9, 1831, and proved April 16, 1832. He bequeathed all of his estate to his beloved wife, Margaret Marston.

Margaret, wife of John, died in 1841; her will was made Nov. 7, 1841, and proved Jan. 4, 1842. She bequeathed all of her estates to the children of her brothers and sisters, $200 excepted. It appears by the wills that Francis was the first, and John the last, of this family to die. The Surrogate says these are all the Marstons recorded in his office. Possibly this family were the brothers and sisters of Lawrence Marston.

When three years of age, while at play, he received a blow in his eye, previously weakened by scarlet fever, which caused inflammation to set in; it soon extended to the other eye, and in a short time he became totally blind. He received a good education through his father and sister Cicely, and became quite famous as a poet and novelist, though so young. His works were not so remarkable for their intellectual strength, as for their tender and resigned expression of feelings, indicating a gentle, loving, and trusting spirit. For a more extended notice of the "blind poet" see Louise C. Moulton's "Garden Secrets."
